DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-13, 16, 17, 20-22 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ozawa (USPN 5,044,891).

Ozawa discloses a diaphragm pump (Fig. 3) comprising an electric motor 14 having a motor shaft 46, and eccentric drive 20 including and eccentric drive shaft 51 which is coaxial to the motor shaft. There is a non-rigid slidable coupling 48 (see Fig. 4) between the motor and the eccentric drive shafts. The eccentric drive is coupled to drive a diaphragm pump 26 having an inlet 28 and an outlet 30. As shown in Figs. 2 and 3 the inlet and the outlet paths have portions which extend parallel to the drive axis (the axis parallel to the drive connection 118, 186 and perpendicular to the eccentric drive element 80). The motor has a flange 36 fixed thereto and a housing 66 for enclosing the non-rigid coupling.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ozawa.

Ozawa discloses the invention substantially as claimed but does not disclose a sensor or an absorption cell mount in the inlet duct. The examiner gives official notice that it is common to place sensors and absorption cells within the inlet to a pump. At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to place either a sensor (such as a flow, pressure or temperature sensor) in the inlet duct in order to monitor and clean the fluid as it enters the pump. The examiner notes that an absorption cell is a broad recitation and includes many filter elements.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 14 and 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 23-26 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wright discloses an axial shaft alignment mechanism between a pump and a motor.
